STATE ALLIANCE BUSINESS AGENCY.

Conducted by T. Ivey, S. B. A. Buy fruit jars in time.

Smith's feed cutters, $2 50.

Flour is advancing rapidly.

Wanted-Thoroughbred pigs.

Good mixed Cuba molasses, 13c. Get in stock of Queen of Carolina

PEAS, QUEEN OF CAROLINA -The greatest Pea ever discovered. Yields

480 to 1. 2 oz. 25c. Woolen prices are deferred till next week. If you want us to be responsible to you, you must ship by our direction,

Will you notice our prices on harness and saddles? They are North Carolina made goods. Factory in Raleigh. Anything wanted in this line will have our personal attention.

Please don't ask us to ship goods C. O. D. or sight draft bill lading attached. That class of shipments generally causes trouble all round. Better send the money or file a bond.

In packing goods for market be sure to put them up in nice attractive style, and of uniform conditions all the way through. The former will catch the eye and the latter betokens honesty.

Eggs for hatching from pure S. C. White Leghorns, $1 per 15. S. C. Brown Leghorns, $1 per 15.

Pekin Ducks, $1 per 13. Carefully packed and delivered to express office here.

BASKETS.-Berry baskets and crates, gifts and standards, bean crates and Stick candy, 200 lb bbls, per "Stick candy, 30 lb pails, per " baskets; crates and baskets for all Fine mixtures, 200 lb bbls, per pound kinds of fruits. Send for catalogue. State what you want and get our prices before buying elsewhere.

A brother writes: "Send me a price list of everything that a farmer uses and a list of what he has to sell." A pretty hard thing to do, but we sent him a copy of THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER with request to subscribe.

All bonds sent in to this office should he first-class. It is our duty to make some investigation before shipping out goods on bonds. If the bonds are not found to be sufficient we have to return

"We can buy such goods as we buy from you through the Agency (namely sugar, coffee, molasses and such like) just as cheap by retail from our merchants as we can get them from you by adding on the freights and a little for lossage," writes a brother.

I am glad that he is thus frank. This may be true, and for several reasons. His local merchant may be a man who buys in carload lots, and if so he can make better terms and better rates of freight than we can. He may be shrewd enough to see that if he can control the trade of a few leading Alliancemen he can get the influence of the community, and thereby materially increase his trade. Or he may be one who hates the Alliance so much that he is willing to cut his own throat in order to kill the Alliance. For any of these reasons he may sell goods at a loss to a few persons and for a short time. It is a simple business transaction with the merchant to offer inducements to catch you. When you are in his trap then he has it all his own way, and you pay what he tells you. Suppose all Alliancemen over the State should be caught in this way, so that the Agency would have to close its doors and distribute its fund, do you think it would be 30 days before the merchant's percentages would begin to advance? How long before we would have nothing to guide us and could not tell how much too much we were paying? If the Agency does nothing else, it keeps prices down to a minimum.

I regret if we cannot buy through the Agency as good goods as cheap as others buy. We try to be on the alert and deal only with honorable, reliable houses If the brethren will condense their orders and instead, for instance, of ordering one barrel of flour at a time, will order 10, 20, or 50, the Agency can buy to much better advantage.
